Course Description

This is an advanced therapy course for clinicians who work with children who have been abused and demonstrate trauma related symptoms. The course includes in-depth discussion of child abuse, video vignettes and participant involvement in case discussion and role-playing. Trauma Focused-Cognitive Behavioral Therapy is a research based, outcome based design that requires therapists to learn and use the strategies as outlined in the design.

David Love, MFT is the founder and Executive Director of Valley Community Counseling Services, one of the original CHAT Centers. He has been providing child abuse treatment services for over thirty years. David has provided child abuse related training in Australia, New Zealand, China, throughout Europe and the United States. He is a qualified expert witness on the child sexual abuse accommodation syndrome, rape trauma syndrome, domestic violence syndrome, and eyewitness testimony.

This course is free of cost. Course meets qualifications for 6 hours of Continuing Education Units for MFTs/ LCSWs (Provider #4128) as required by the California Board of Behavioral Sciences. CEUs are available for a fee of $25.
